25X1

1. The airfield south of Dubno (25°45'E/50°25'N), Ukrainian SSR, east of the road to Lvov, (24°0'E/49°50'N), was about 3 km square. No runways or buildings were seen.
2. More than 100 single-engine fighters and ground attack aircraft were parked around the landing field. There was heavy flying.

Comment :

This is the first information on the Dubno airfield. The reported size seems to be overrated. An expansion of the field (1.2 x 1.5 km) is considered impossible as the field is surrounded by swamps and inclines to the north by at least 10 to 15 meters. An occupation by 40 to 50 aircraft (one to two ground attack regiments) is believed to be the maximum capacity of the field.
